INTRODUCTION.

THIS Subject Catalogue contains the titles of about one-third of the books in the new Science Library, Marischal College — being those placed on the open shelves in the Students' Reading Room, the Professors' Reading Room and the Magazine Room. The remaining two-thirds, shelved in the Stack Rooms, are titled either in the author catalogues printed in 1874 and 1897, or in the manuscript sheaf catalogues (both of authors and of subjects), which may be consulted in the Library.

To keep the booklet of a convenient size, the titles have been cut down as far as is consistent with clearness. Authors' pre-names are entered as initials only, while the names of editors and of translators are omitted, save in exceptional cases. No cross-references are given from the names of joint authors, and books of composite authorship have not been analysed.

The system of classification and notation here employed is a modification of that devised by Mr. Melvil Dewey, which is in use in many libraries in all parts of the world. Certain alterations have been introduced, suggested by the publications of the Institut International de Bibliographie of Brussels, and the whole has been adapted to the special requirements of a University Library.

It is impossible to devise a classification that will satisfy every one ; but it must be borne in mind that a classification of actual books is a different thing from a classification of theoretical knowledge, and that a general agreement among librarians to adopt some one system is a practical testimony in its favour so strong as to outweigh arguments against it, arising from dissatisfaction with minor details of the scheme.

The merits of Mr. Dewey's system are briefly these :—

1. It permits an almost unlimited subdivision of every class.
2. It permits an almost unlimited intercalation of new books among those already on the shelves.
3. It possesses a simple notation, which has acquired an international significance.
4. The notation is in a high degree mnemonic.

Mr. Dewey divides books into ten main classes, which are numbered as decimal fractions of the sum total of printed matter regarded as unity (1·). Thus :—

·0	denotes	books of a general character, not confined to any one class.
·1	denotes	books on Philosophy.
·2	,,	,,	Religion.
·3	,,	,,	Sociology.
·4	,,	,,	Philology.
·5	,,	,,	Pure Science [1]
·6	,,	,,	Applied Science [1]
·7	,,	,,	Fine Arts.
·8	,,	,,	Literature.
·9	,,	,,	History.

·5	Pure Science in general.
·54	Chemistry.
·546	Inorganic Chemistry.
·5463	Metals.
·54631	Alkali group.

[1] The present catalogue is concerned almost exclusively with books falling under the heads ·5 and ·6.

·55 Geology.
·551 Physical Geology.
·553 Economic Geology.
·5535 Building stones.
·55352 Granites.

·6 Applied Science in general.
·61 Medicine.
·611 Anatomy.
·6117 Motor system.
·61173 Muscles.
·612 Physiology.

[See Table A: subdivisions of ·5 and ·6.]

When the number of books in any class is great, it may be convenient to arrange them in groups according to some characteristics other than their common subject. Thus:—

Divisions by Form.—Books on say General Chemistry, as shown above, would be all marked ·54, but these may differ much in the form of treatment of the subject—systematic manuals, dictionaries, essays, magazines, etc. If we insert a cipher to show that our new groups are not limited to any of the subdivisions of General Chemistry, we may write:—

·5402 Manual of Chemistry.
·5403 Dictionary of Chemistry.
·5404 Essays on Chemistry.
·5405 Magazine of Chemistry.
·5406 Transactions of a Chemical Society.

[See Table B: Form divisions.]

Divisions by Place.—Books on say Geology, as shown above, would be all marked ·55, but these may deal with different localities or with different strata. If we use brackets to indicate this further departure from our original method, we may write:—

·55(115) Geology of coal strata.
·55(2343) Geology of the Alps.

·55(8) Geology of S. America.
·55(85) Geology of Peru.
[See Table C: Place divisions.]

Divisions by Relation.—A book may deal with two or more subjects, or with a subject in its relation to some other topic. After assigning to the book the number denoting its first or principal subject, we may link on to this number, by means of a colon, the number denoting the second or subsidiary subject. Thus:—

·611 : 612 Anatomy and Physiology.
·611 : 7 Anatomy in its relation to Art.

These different methods of division may be freely used in combination. Thus:—

·55(115 : 85)04 Essays on the coal strata of Peru.

So long as only the ordinary digits are used in the class numbers, the arrangement of books on the shelves presents no difficulty. They follow each other in the ascending order of the decimal fractions employed. Thus:—

·504
·53
·5726
·61

But when brackets and colons are used as well as digits, it is convenient to adopt the convention that these come in the alphabetical order of their names (*b*racket, *c*olon, *d*igit), the cipher taking precedence of all three on the familiar indexing principle, "Nothing precedes something". Thus:—

·5504
·55(115)
·55(85)
·55 : 59
·55 : 7
·553

A book can stand in only one place on the shelves and can have but one class number. Its title, however, may be repeated in a catalogue in as many classes as it has subjects. When entered in the class of its main subject, the number is printed in ordinary roman type; when entered also in any other class (where the book does not stand) the number is printed in italics. Thus:—

·616 PATHOLOGY.

·616 : 611 Pathological Anatomy.

·611 ANATOMY.

·616 : 611 Pathological Anatomy.

In addition to the significant class number, each book receives a book mark which serves to distinguish it from all other books belonging to the same class. This book mark almost always consists of the first three letters of the author's surname, or of a word selected, according to certain rules, from the title. As the author's surname or the selected word appears first in the clarendon type at the beginning of each entry of the catalogue, the book mark has not been reprinted at the side. In the case, however, of periodicals and publications of societies, where the same first words (Journal, Annals, etc.) recur with frequency, it is necessary to choose, more or less arbitrarily, certain letters, usually initials, to represent the titles. These letters are printed immediately after the class number of each book. Thus:—

·504 Helmholtz, A. von. Popular lectures on scientific subjects.

·5(26) Challenger. Report on scientific results of voyage.

·5805 A.B. Annals of botany.

·5806 L.J. London. Linnean Society. Journal.

The actual book mark of the first of these is Hel, of the second Cha.

Certain groups of books, though dealing with different subjects, it has been found convenient not to disperse. These are denoted by distinctive letters placed immediately before the class numbers. Thus :—

B.M. = British Museum publications.
P.S. = Palæontographical Society's publications.
R.S. = Royal Society's publications.
Ref. = Reference books, bearing red labels, and not to be removed from the library.
f. = folio books, placed on special shelves.

It is, of course, not expected that readers can remember all the numbers corresponding to the different subjects. A full alphabetical index of classes and sub-classes is appended, forming a key, not merely to this catalogue, but to the books themselves as they stand on the shelves, where the order of ascending decimals coincides exactly with that followed in the catalogue. Periodicals and transactions are, however, shelved apart from books of a non-serial character.

A second index is added of author's names.

The different lists have had the benefit of revision by the teachers of the several subjects.

INDEX OF SUBJECTS	87
INDEX OF AUTHORS	91

INTRODUCTION

THIS Subject Catalogue contains the titles of about one-half of the Law books in Marischal College—being those placed on the open shelves in the Law Library. The remaining half, works of less frequent use, are titled in the Author Catalogue printed in 1874.

The system of classification and notation here employed is a modification of that devised by Mr. Melvil Dewey, which is in use in many libraries in all parts of the world. Certain alterations have been introduced, suggested by the publications of the Institut International de Bibliographie of Brussels, and the whole has been adapted to the special requirements of a University Library.

Mr. Dewey divides books into ten main classes, which are numbered as decimal fractions of the sum total of printed matter regarded as unity (1·) Thus :—

·0 denotes books of a general character, not confined to any one class.
·1 denotes books on Philosophy.
·2 ,, ,, Religion.
·3 ,, ,, Sociology.
·4 ,, ,, Philology.
·5 ,, ,, Pure Science.
·6 ,, ,, Applied Science.
·7 ,, ,, Fine Art.
·8 ,, ,, Literature.
·9 ,, ,, History.

Each class can be subdivided by simply carrying on the decimal to as many places as may be desired. Thus :—

·3	Sociology.
·34	Law.
·341	International Law.
·3413	Laws of War.
·34135	Neutrality.
·347	Modern Private Law.

[See Table A : Subject subdivisions.]

When the number of books in any class is great, it may be convenient to arrange them in groups according to some characteristics other than their common subject. Thus :—

Divisions by Form.—Books on say International Law, as shown above, would be all marked ·341, but these may differ much in the form of treatment of the subject—systematic treatises, dictionaries, essays, magazines, etc. If we insert a cipher to show that our new groups are not limited to any of the subdivisions of International Law, we may write :—

·34102	Treatises on International Law.
·34103	Dictionaries of International Law.
·34104	Essays on International Law.
·34105	Magazines of International Law.
·34106	Transactions of International Law Societies.

[See Table B : Form divisions.]

Divisions by Place.—Books on say Private Law, as shown above, would be all marked ·347, but these may deal with law in different localities. If we use brackets to indicate this further departure from our original method, we may write :—

·347 (4)	Private Law in Europe.
·347 (41)	Private Law of Scotland.
·347 (42)	Private Law of England.
·347 (43)	Private Law of France.
·347 (73)	Private Law of United States.

[See Table C : Place divisions.]

As the large majority of books in divisions ·343, ·346 and ·347 deal with Scots Law, it has been thought best to omit for these the distinguishing (41). Thus :—

·347 Private Law of Scotland.

Divisions by Relation.—A book may deal with two or more subjects, or with a subject in its relation to some other topic. After assigning to the book the number denoting its first or principal subject, we may link on to this number, by means of a colon, the number denoting the second or subsidiary subject. Thus :—

34012 : 341 Law of Nature and Nations.
34 : 37 Law relating to Education.

·34
·3405
·342
·34526
·349

But when brackets and colons are used as well as digits, it is convenient to adopt the convention that these come in the alphabetical order of their names (*b*racket, *c*olon, *d*igit), the cipher taking precedence of all three, on the familiar indexing principle, " Nothing precedes something." Thus :—

·3405
·34 (41)
·34 (73)
·34 : 352
·34 : 37
·342

A book can stand in only one place on the shelves and can have but one class number. Its title, however, may be repeated in a catalogue in as many classes as it has subjects. When entered in the class of its main subject, the number is printed in ordinary roman type; when entered also in any other class (where the book does not stand) the number is printed in italics. Thus :—

·34012 NATURAL LAW.

·34012 : 341 Law of Nature and Nations.

·341 INTERNATIONAL LAW.

·34012 : 341 Law of Nature and Nations.

In addition to the significant class number, each book receives a book mark which serves to distinguish it from all other books belonging to the same class. This book mark almost always consists of the first three letters of the author's surname, or of a word selected, according to certain rules, from the title. As the author's surname or the selected word appears first in the clarendon type at the beginning of each entry of the catalogue, the book mark has not been reprinted at the side. In the case, however, of periodicals and publications of societies, where the same first words (Review, Journal, etc.) recur with frequency, it is necessary to choose, more or less arbitrarily, certain letters, usually initials, to represent the titles. These letters are printed immediately after the class number of each book. Thus :—

·343 Anderson, A. M. Criminal law of Scotland.

·344 Military Law. Manual of military law.

·3405 L.Q. Law Quarterly Review.

·3406 L. London. Society of Comparative Legislation. Journal.

The actual book mark of the first of these is And. of the second Mil.

An asterisk (*) replacing the usual decimal point indicates that the book to whose number it is prefixed is shelved in a special collection of early Law books, many of the fifteenth century. A prefixed letter f indicates a book shelved apart as a folio.

It is, of course, not expected that readers can remember all the numbers corresponding to the different subjects. A full alphabetical index of classes and sub-classes is appended, forming a key, not merely to this catalogue, but to the books themselves as they stand on the shelves, where the order of ascending decimals coincides exactly with that followed in the catalogue. A second index is added of authors' names.
